Comadex cutting tools b.v. (previously Comato tools) is an established new-style company and since 1948 a supplier specialised in the production and marketing of tools, steel and tungsten carbide precision parts for the metal, wood, textile, plastics, paper, electronical and synthetic industries in the Netherlands, Germany and various other countries in Europe.

The specialised endproducts of Comadex are characterised by know-how and continuous monitoring of the quality and standards specified by the client, during the entire production process.

With good cooperation, technical problems may lead to an endproduct which contributes to optimal efficiency for the customer. Comadex has good relations with, among others, companies in the supply and automobile industry.

Metal and/or woodworking is carried out by order of the client or will be achieved after intensive cooperation. Comadex is very interested in any form of "comakership" and vouches for client-driven approach, regardless of the type and size of the assignment.
